A sneak peek at Staffa, a work for full orchestra and large screens depicting three simultaneous visions of the uninhabited Hebridean island of Staffa created by filmmaker Gerry Fox and composer Ned Bigham.

The piece pays homage to Mendelssohn's famous 1829 visit to the haunting Fingal's Cave on Staffa. It will be presented as a three screen installation at the National Library of Scotland and as a live performance at Usher Hall in this year's Edinburgh International Festival.
