Munich 72 and Beyond
7.45pm, PBS America
A reminder of the most traumatic event in modern Olympic history: the kidnapping and murder of members of the Israeli team by the PLO's Black September faction. The horrifying events unfolded on live TV and were watched by an estimated one billion people. This documentary tells the full story. PH

Changing Rooms
8pm, Channel 4
Two Italian-Welsh couples from a Cardiff cul-de-sac swap house keys as the revival of the 1990s makeover format continues. Both rooms are in dire need of pizzazz; luckily, new designers Jordan Cluroe and Russell Whitehead are as maximalist as returning musketeer Laurence Llewelyn-Bowen. GV

Burning Man: Art on Fire 8pm, Sky Arts
"This is the largest art gallery in the world, for one week of the year," says one attendee. But how does it feel to construct something vast and complex in the knowledge of its temporary nature? Gerald Fox's film about the festival of art and fire offers an insight into the BM mindset - creativity as a form of spiritual practice. PH

George Clarke's Remarkable Renovations
9pm, Channel 4
Last episode in the series where Clarke softly encourages people to make better use of old and derelict buildings. He's on the banks of the Humber, where a disused Victorian stables could become a home packed with historical character. But will it be livable? JS
