

ON SHOW WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE AND WHY THIS WEEK

Architectural view

London-based South African artist and Bafta-award winning filmmaker Gerry Fox presents new film work made with local young people as part of his first major solo exhibition. Showing at 176, the exhibition space for the Zabludowicz Collection in North London, Fox has created a series of film installations entitled Living London. The 30-minute work takes the viewer through the architecture and culture of the city including a virtual tour of the restored Methodist Chapel at 176. It also offers Fox's perspective on life in London, historic sites and mundane events as shot through his wide-angle lens and cut with both new and archival footage.
